ABOUT ME

My name is Ebenezer Frimpong and I am an accuracy-oriented and dedicated individual with a pro-active approach and the crucial ability to operate both independently and in fast-paced team environments. I have spent the last couple of years working on the front-end of static websites using technologies such as HTML, CSS, JAVASCRIPT.

I am skilled in all aspects of the job. Besides developing original micro-sites, landing pages, and templates, providing support to clients, and fixing any front-end related issues

In my spare time, I have been learning more about REACT JS. In fact, I am very excited about its promising applications, and it has opened my eyes to a broader range of problems that I can solve.
